Activity

Skiing

We skied north of Cooke today. The storm snow is upside down with a wind slab sitting on top. There is also a new dust layer that came in last night with the extreme winds. We had two collapses while skinning and ECTP13 down 60cm at the new/old interface on top of a crust, SE aspect at 9700'. Winds were L-M out of the W and S2 snowfall all day with 8" new during the day.
